§ 1256.2 Restrictions on access.

The use of some archives and donated historical materials transferred to the National Archives of the United States, especially those of recent date, is subject to restrictions prescribed in statute or Executive order, or restrictions specified by the donor or agency from which the records were transferred and imposed by the Archivist of the United States. Restrictions on access to particular records that have been specified by the donor or transferring agency are known as “specific restrictions.” Restrictions on access that may apply to more than one record group are termed “general restrictions,” and apply to the kinds of information or classes of records designated, regardless of the record group to which such records have been allocated. Both specific and general restrictions have been published in the “Guide to the National Archives of the United States.” (See § 1254.30.) Subparts A and B contain restrictions that have been added or revised since the publication of the latest edition of the Guide.

§ 1256.4 Access to records containing personal information.

(a) NARA policy. Access to archival records containing information access to which would invade the privacy of an individual is restricted by § 1256.16.

(1) NARA may authorize access to such records for the purpose of statistical or quantitative research to qualified persons doing biomedical research under the conditions outlined in this section.

(2) If NARA is able to make a copy of such records with all personal identifiers masked or deleted, NARA will make such a “sanitized” copy of the record available to all researchers in accordance with part 1254 of this chapter.

(3) NARA will not grant access to restricted census and survey records of
